PORTSMOUTH JEWS JOIN THE I. O. B. B. AND BANQUET

Journey to Hampton to Feast and Listen to Speeches

The big dining hall at Hotel Janvin in Hampton Beach, was the scene of a most enjoyable affair on Sunday evening when about one hundred and fifty members of the N. H. Lodge, I. O. B. B., No. 839, gathered there. It was the first dinner and meeting of the Portsmouth members and it was a marked success. The order is composed of those of the Jewish faith and it is for the betterment of conditions for the Jews all over the world. On Sunday a degree team from Portland, Me., exemplified the degrees of the order on a large class of candidates. At the close the visitors were shown over the city and the summer resorts. At the close of the dinner E. M. Chase, President of Manchester, arose and thanked the members for their attendance and then introduced Louis Shapiro as the toastmaster. And he presented the speaker of the evening, Charles H. Shapiro of Hartford, Connecticut, the head of the N. E. Lodge. He was an able talker and was given hearty applause. He was followed by Maj. F. W. Hartford.

See, E. H. Baker of the Chamber of Commerce, Governor John H. Bartlett and Dr. Kopelen of Portland, Me. The committee in charge of the arrangements were Charles Santer, Max Gelman and Alex Salten. Speech of Charles H. Shapiro. To you, men and women of New Hampshire assembled here at Portsmouth in the heart of old New England, I bring greetings today from the B'nai B'rith of District Grand Lodge Number One. I say old New England, advisedly, for only within the past few weeks has old New England become New England to us. There were days in its early history when the first settlers who came across the great ocean, after building their homes, their churches and school houses, set about to lay the foundations of a new nation. History tells us that though they came to this country to seek for themselves freedom of religious worship, they soon forgot what they came here for, and were not as tolerant to

R-34 Nearly Wrecked This Morning While at Anchor--Charged President Wilson With Organizing League of Nations Before War--Charges Made in Senate

TO ADDRESS SENATE THURSDAY

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 7.—President Wilson will address the Senate on the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations, at 12:15 Thursday.

NEW SONG HIT

One of the latest song hits growing out of the great war is, "Ring Out Sweet Bells of Peace." This song has a fine sentiment and the music is beautiful. It was sung as a solo by Ernest Cook at the recent peace service at the Unitarian church and is destined to become very popular when the public becomes familiar with it.

CLOUGH-JENNESS.

The marriage of Elizabeth Pauline Jenness and Mahlon Leslie Clough, both of Portsmouth, took place in this city yesterday. City Clerk Elmer Clark performed the ceremony. The groom gave his occupation as a teamster.

(By Associated Press)
Minneapolis, N. Y., July 7.—The R-34 was torn from her mooring rope this morning by a violent gust of wind. The girder to which the rope was attached broke under the strain ripping a hole six feet by three feet in the gas bag. The dirigible was saved from being blown away by three hundred men who seized the ropes hanging from her sides and held her down with great difficulty.

On Board U. S. Steamship George Washington, Sunday, July 6.—The Presidential fleet which is steaming toward New York today encountered the first breath of the heat wave which has prevailed along the Atlantic coast. It was accompanied by humidity and considerable fog and the ships slackened their pace to 12 knots an hour. President Wilson rested a good part of the day, but spent some time on the upper deck and with Mrs. Wilson visited wounded soldiers in the sick hospital. He will devote tomorrow and Tuesday-morning to finishing his message to Congress. This will probably be in shape to go over with some of his cabinet officers on Wednesday, preparatory to its presentation and the submission of the Peace Treaty, the Treaty with France, and the Protocols to Congress on Thursday. Arrangements have been made for arriving in New York early Tuesday afternoon and Washington Tuesday night. It is expected that the outstanding fleet of warships will be met on Tuesday morning when the first salutes will be exchanged and the combined fleets will proceed together.

Minneapolis, N. Y., July 7.—Major Scott announced definitely at noon today that the R-34 would start on its return journey at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning flying over Boston. She will not circle New York before turning east. Major Scott announced later that an effort would be made to shape the R-34's course so that it would pass over the George Washington which is bringing President Wilson home.

Washington, July 7.—Charges that the President organized the Council of National Defense before war was declared in absolute violation of law and thereby created a "secret government of the United States" which formulated legislation, dictated policies the country was to pursue and befriended "big business" were made today by Chairman Graham of the special house committee investigating the war department's expenditures. Minutes of the council were read to the committee by Mr. Graham with a report in which he asserted the council assumed such broad powers that Major General Goethals, former chief of the purchase, storage, and traffic division of the war department, defied it. Cabinet members protested against its activities and Judge Gary, president of the United States Steel Corporation, accused it of operating in "flagrant violation of law."

Sandy Hook should be reached somewhere around noon and the fleet will then move slowly through the narrows to the upper bay. President Wilson will land at Hoboken in the afternoon and will cross by the Twenty-Third street ferry to New York city where a citizens' reception committee will be waiting. From the ferry house the President will go to Fifth Avenue, thence to Fifty-Seventh Street, and Carnegie Hall, where there will be reception ceremonies with a brief address by the President.

New York, July 7.—On the return from France tomorrow on the George Washington, President Wilson will be met down the bay by several hundred prominent citizens composing the official reception committee and more than one thousand residents of Staten Island and relatives of home coming soldiers, fellow passengers of the President. The President probably will reach the foot of Twenty-Third street about 4 o'clock. He will go immediately to Carnegie hall escorted by motorcycle policemen, mounted policemen, and a regiment of soldiers, sailors and marines. At Carnegie Hall, Vice President Marshall and members of his cabinet will act as his escort to the platform.

FRENCH YOUTHS HERE FOR STUDY

(By Associated Press)
Middlebury, Vt., July 7.—Through the co-operation of the French government Professor H. P. Williamson de Visne, director of French at Middlebury College, summer session has brought to Middlebury five French youths to study the life and customs of New England. The young men include representatives of both the business life and the nobility of France. Professor de Visne, who is a native of Middlebury and the head of a school near Paris, hopes to bring another class of French boys here next summer.

CROWN PRINCE WILL DIE FIRST

Amsterdam, Saturday, July 6.—"The Allies can only have my dead body; I will myself decide on my life or death," the former German crown prince is quoted as having said Friday in discussing a possible demand for his extradition.

This statement, reported by the British wireless service correspondent, was said by him to have been made to a Dutch official who talks daily with the former crown prince. According to this official, Frederick Hohenzollern is in excellent health. He takes motorcycle trips daily, and frequently visits both the rich and the poor on the island of Wieringen.

FIVE INJURED IN JITNEY ACCIDENT AT SOMERSWORTH

Car Loses Power on Hill and Backs Over Bank Wall Into Field.

Two men and three women were badly injured at Somersworth on Sunday night when one of the big cars of the Gladstone jitney service, running between Dover and Somersworth, was badly wrecked. The jitney with 25 or more passengers is said to have lost its power in some way on a steep hill and being heavily loaded the brakes failed to hold. The car ran backward at a rapid speed to the bottom of the hill, going over a five foot high wall into a field where it tipped over. The passengers were thrown into a panic especially the several women in the car. There was only one door at the rear near the driver's seat. There was such a rush to escape by this single door that the passengers blocked passage and the car was in the field and tipped over before many of them could free themselves from the perilous position.

The injured men, Otto Butler of New York, and a Mr. Murray of Somersworth, a stove dealer, are not expected to live. The women though quite badly injured are said to have a chance for recovery. They were taken to the Westworth Hospital at Dover.

GERMAN R. R. EMPLOYEES RETURN

(By Associated Press)
Frankfurt, Sunday, July 6.—The railway strikers who have been holding up train service in southern and western Germany decided today to resume work, but insisted that their demands be met. They will be ready for united action in case the government's decision is adverse.

TRAIN STRIKES TWO WOMEN AT KITTERY POINT

Miss Boyd, Well Known Artist Thought to Be Fatally Injured.

Miss Jean Boyd and her mother, Mrs. Henry Tuck of New York, who occupy a summer home at Kittery Point, were struck by the York Harbor and Beach passenger train leaving Portsmouth at 11 o'clock this morning at the highway crossing near Fort McClary.

The women were in an automobile on their way to the postoffice with Mrs. Tuck driving. They were driving down hill at the time. The train had just whistled as they approached the track and it is thought that Mrs. Tuck got confused or eyes the train failed to work properly. In a few seconds the locomotive crashed into the car tossing the machine and occupants on the side of the track.

Miss Boyd was so badly injured it is feared she cannot live, while Mrs. Tuck was badly cut on head and legs. She is said to have no bones broken. They were removed to their home where Dr. Curry was called. Miss Boyd is a well known artist and the family have made their home at Kittery Point in the summer for many years.

THE DAIRY FIRM OF ANT AND APHIS—A GARDEN WONDER TOOK CHANCE

New wonders of nature continually are opening to the home gardener who watches carefully the evolution of the insects that attack his plants have creatures in his food plot. Even the power to amaze. And no insects are more interesting than the tiny plant-lice or aphids, which grow in a large number of forms and suck the juices from various kinds of plants.

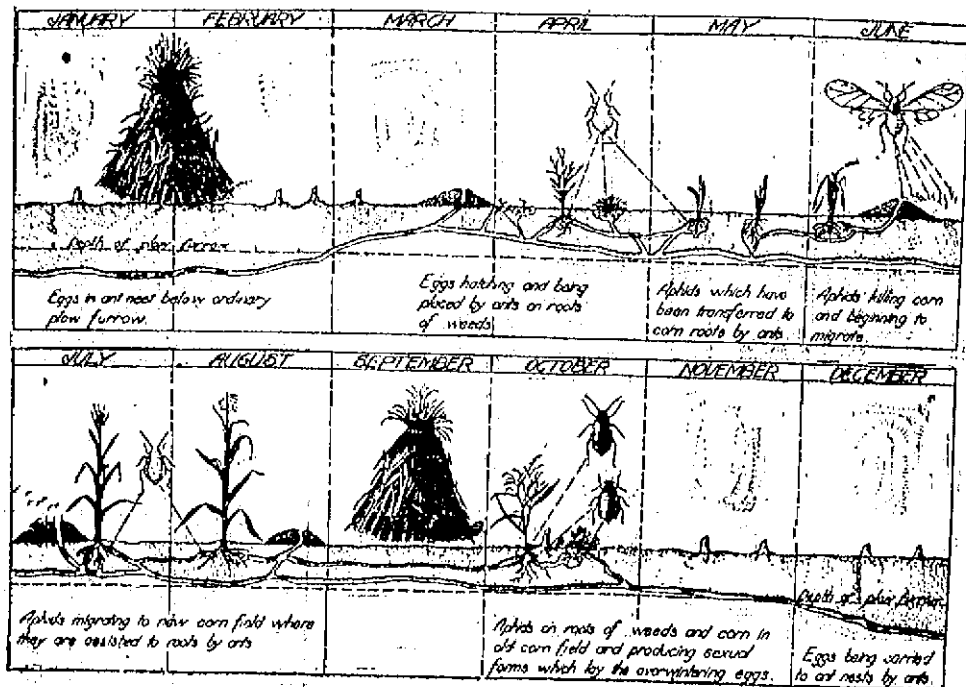

The most remarkable thing about some of the aphids is their partnership with other insects. Many forms of the roots. After two or three successive generations, many of the aphids may be winged, and some escape from the ground through the ant tunnels and fly away to a new field. If they chance to alight near an ant hill they are seized immediately by the watchful placed on roots, and honeydew production starts again.

When cold weather is approaching and the ant carries the aphids' eggs to the ant goes at least eight inches under the soil and eight inches in mixed with a chemical fertilizer and distributed by means of a fertilizer attachment to the corn planter. These substances tend to drive away the ants and prevent them from plucking aphids on the corn roots.

Aphids in Gardens
To home gardeners whose plants are attacked by aphids, such as the melon aphid, spinach aphid, potato aphid, and the turnip and cabbage aphids which live above ground the specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture

Seasonal history of the Corn Root-Aphid and its relations with the Cornfield Ant aphids are fostered and protected from the beginning to the end of their little lives by the industrious ants. The ants, carried into their burrows, partnership seems to have reached a most perfect form in the case of the corn root-aphid and the cornfield ant, and it is usually found that where there are aphids there are ants.

Operation of Ant-Aphid Alliance
The partnership of ant and aphid—the cornfield ant and the corn root-aphid operates in nearly every section where corn is grown east of the Rocky Mountains, especially in some of the Corn Belt States. The workings of the partnership have been compared to a subterranean dairy, with the aphid as the ant's "cow," the ant directing the enterprise, the aphid doing the work, and the ant getting the profits. The ant is not directly harmful to the corn, but the aphid is. Without the ant, however, the firm would have to go out of business, and that is why the United States Department of Agriculture tells farmers who want to get rid of the corn root-aphid to get rid of the ant. The same advice applies in the case of certain other forms of root-aphids.

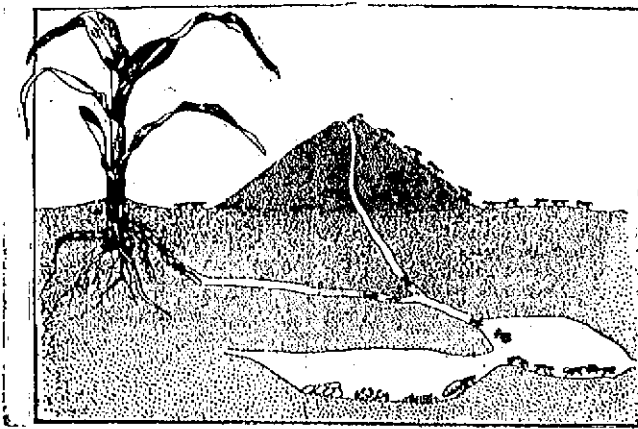

This is how the subterranean dairy works:
In the fall the ants carry the eggs of the aphid to their nests and care for them as they do for their own young. In the spring, when the eggs hatch, the ants tunnel along weed roots and place the helpless aphids on the roots. Soon the aphids begin to suck the juices of the plants on which the aphid is feeding. The ants dearly love "honeydew," and they tenderly watch over and care for their "cows." The aphids are actually dependent throughout their life on the ants.

Escaped Aphids Seized by Ants
The first two or three generations of aphids live entirely on the roots of weeds, but as soon as the newly-planted and the young ants deeper into the soil and the aphids transfer the corn to the more succulent corn deeper than the ordinary plow furrow. The particular aphid that attacks corn is called the corn root-aphid because of its preference for that plant. In gardens it is very common on many other varieties of aphids, however, and for many of them and have a tender feeling. For instance, there are the aphids that attack orange trees in California. The ants surround these aphids, attack other insects that attempt to reach them, and induce the aphids to excrete honeydew by also recommended spraying with 40 per cent nicotine sulphate at the rate of one teaspoonful of the sulphate to one gallon of water, in which has been dissolved a one-inch cube of laundry soap.

Killing the ants, of course, by destroying their colonies, will help in the control of the corn root-aphid in way it can be controlled, since living underground it can not be reached by gardens and this is about the only

How ants foster the Corn Root-Aphid, caring for them in their nests during the winter, and in the spring carrying them through the tunnels of the corn plants stroking their bodies with their antennae, or feelers. Unfortunately for the orange aphids, however, they are attacked by winged parasites which "sting" and lay eggs in them, and these parasites are so small and active that the ants can not successfully defend their charges.

How to Control Pests
The corn root-aphid in fields is controlled by rotating with crops upon which the aphids can not live by plowing and disking, thus breaking up the ant and aphid colonies, and by the use of certain pungent substances, sprays. The simplest attack no the ants is to seal their hills with boiling water. Another method is to pour a little carbon disulphide into the entrance to the ant hill and immediately cover the entrance with earth in order to keep the poisonous fumes in the burrow.

Spraying with nicotine sulphate, however, is the standard remedy for most garden aphids, and should not be postponed or neglected when they are found to be present, as they increase very rapidly and unless checked soon kill the plants.

TOOK CHANCE TO BEAT TRAIN

Portland, Me., July 7.—Mrs. Ethel G. Stetson, aged 33 years, was almost instantly killed Sunday evening when the automobile in which she was riding with her brother, Frank M. Blair, was struck by a Portland-bound Grand Trunk passenger train at Skilling's crossing at North Yarmouth. Blair was brought to a local hospital but his injuries are not serious. It was raining at the time the accident occurred but Blair says he heard the approaching train and thought he could cross the track ahead of it.

Mrs. Stetson is survived by a 14-year-old daughter. Both belong in North Yarmouth.

SAYS SHOALS SHOULD BE A GIBRALTER

Boston Post Writer Says the Islands Should Be Impregnable Fortress.

The Boston Post is one of the leading papers of the county which has always recognized the national advantages of Portsmouth Harbor, Portsmouth navy yard and the surrounding effecting both army and navy. Today's issue of that paper has the following which should not escape the eye of the government:

That the government is determined that our coast fortifications shall not suffer any deterioration on account of the coming of peace, but shall, rather, be made stronger, is evident from the official investigation of plans for a new system of defenses.

These plans are elaborate. According to announcement they involve the heavy fortification of the Cape Cod Canal with great guns having an accurate range of 30,000 yards, the conversion of Block Island into a second Heligoland, the maintenance of a large garrison at Camp Devens to man the heavy railway artillery, and thorough modernization of the defenses at Cape Ann, Portsmouth and Portland.

This is a wise move. And now is the time to include in the plans for protecting our coast the fortification of the Isles of Shoals. There can be no adequate defense of the great navy yard at Portsmouth without the planting of big guns on those rocky sentinels that command the approaches to three cities besides the government plant mentioned.

The Post has long insisted that the Shoals be made an impregnable fortress as they easily could be. If they are not, and trouble comes with any naval power, its correctness might be disastrously proved.

Make Block Island an American Heligoland, if you please, Mr. Secretary but do not neglect to make the Isles of Shoals a Yankee Gibraltar.

COAL JUMPS IN PRICE TODAY

The price of coal is to take a jump of fifty cents today, and at the same time the dealers are more urgent than ever that people get in their coal before the winter sets in.

The new price is caused by the monthly advance of the operators at the mines which has been going on since the first of May and is now added by the local dealers.

The local dealers say that another reason for the advance is that the operators are demanding premiums as high as $1.00 a ton in some cases for spot shipment. They state that at present they are getting enough coal to fill orders, but expect that this will not be the case later in the season. There is a coal shortage, the United States government figures give it as $6,000,000 tons short of the same production of last year. Efforts are being made to stimulate the production and press dispatches of Saturday state that it is hoped to increase the production from five to eight million tons a week, this of course is both hard and soft coal.

The local dealers state plainly that there will be further increase in price and expect that coal will be much higher this year than at any time during the war.

They also state that they do not have enough to secure the city against shortage this winter, as the greatest storage is in the cellars of the consumers. They also point out the fact that all over the country the war has been the same as in this city, buy coal early during the summer months.

LAWYER RESCUES WOMAN FROM DROWNING

Mrs. Albert P. Clough of Marex street while bathing in the river Saturday afternoon at the foot of Pickering street, had a narrow escape from drowning. She was seized with a cramp and was in immediate danger of drowning when her cries were heard by John G. For a Jiffy-Jell Salad or Meat Loaf

Individual Molds
A Set of Six for Jiffy-Jell Fresh-Fruit Desserts

Jiffy-Jell is for salads as well as for desserts. And we offer this 50-cent aluminum mold for use in making salads.

Use Lime Jiffy-Jell for salads. Each package contains a bottle of lime-fruit essence, sealed. Added to Jiffy-Jell it makes a tart, green salad jelly.

Some serve it with the salad as a zesty garnish. Some mix the salad into the jelly while cooling. With cooked or uncooked vegetables this makes a salad loaf.

A meat loaf is made by mixing in meat scraps. This gives you meat in aspic—an ideal summer cold dish.

We Supply the Mold

Pint Mold, Style D, serves a full package of Lime Jiffy-Jell with the salad or meat mixed in. It makes a flat loaf with six indentations to mark six individual servings.

Send us five end labels from Jiffy-Jell packages—the end labels naming the flavor—and we'll send you this aluminum mold.

Mint Jiffy-Jell contains a vial of mint. It makes a garnish jelly, far better than mint sauce, to serve with cold meats or roast lamb.

EASTERLY WIND BREAKS HEAT WAVE

Never was an easterly wind so welcomed as that of late Saturday night when the wind which had been holding northwesterly and holding a temperature of over a hundred in the shade, shifted and brought a saving drop in the temperature.

Saturday was the hottest of the four days which have been almost record breakers. There was very little breeze going and the temperature ranged anywhere from 96 to 102 in the shade during the afternoon and well into the evening it was up in the nineties. Fortunately there was very little outside work going on, which accounts for the small number of prescriptions. The fourth a holiday and Saturday only a half day's work, which was suspended at the Navy Yard, ship yard and all of the factories and it was a good thing that it came that way.

There was only one heat prostration reported, that of Charles Brackett. He suffered greatly from the heat and ran one from an American express company collapsed on State street shortly before six o'clock. Even there was a big travel to the beaches but the majority of people were attracted to just remain quiet. Sunday the temperature was moderate and feeling overcast a good part of the day it was splendid for outings. Later in the afternoon a shower broke and rain continued off and on until late into the night, and the temperature cooling easterly wind.

entirely was satisfied and wished for a the greatest hot weather bug apparatus dropped to about 86 degrees. The rain was badly needed as the intense heat had burned up lawns and gardens.

CAMELS are as delightful to your taste as they are new. And, so satisfying that they meet every cigarette desire you ever have had.

Camels are unusual; in fact they're unlike any cigarette you ever smoked. That's because they're an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobacco, producing a quality that meets your taste as no other cigarette ever did.

Camels' expert blend gives that mellow-mild-body and frees the cigarettes from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or any unpleasant cigarette odor. You can smoke Camels as liberally as you like without tiring your taste.

You have only to get personally acquainted with the expert Camel blend to know that you prefer it to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

For your own satisfaction compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes, or ten packages of 10 cigarettes in a glassine paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

Portsmouth, N. H., Monday, July 7, 1919.

A Momentous Anniversary.

The celebration of the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims is to be an event of nation-wide interest, and not a mere state affair. This has been made manifest by the appointment of the joint congressional committee which is to have part in the arrangements and the carrying out of the program. This committee is composed of Senators Underwood of Alabama and Harding of Ohio and Representatives Walsh of Massachusetts, McArthur of Oregon, Doremus of Michigan and Whaley of South Carolina. The representatives were named by Speaker Gillett and the senators by Vice President Marshall, who intended to name Senators Lodge and Walsh of Massachusetts, but made different selections at their suggestion, which was offered because of the national character the celebration should have. It will be the duty of this committee to confer with the officials of Massachusetts and any political subdivision thereof, and with individuals and the officers of any organizations or societies that may take part in the celebration, and report on or before September 1 next as to appropriate legislation for participation by the government.

It is well that this celebration should be regarded as a national affair, for it will be an event of universal interest. Plymouth Rock is on the coast of Massachusetts, but the mere fact that the Pilgrims landed there does not confine the interest in this great anniversary to the Old Bay State. From that humble beginning has grown a great, powerful and prosperous nation, every corner of which will thrill with pride when comes the time for the formal celebration.

Descendants of the Pilgrims are now resident in all parts of this broad country, and the residents of no state have a monopoly of pride in the history of its beginnings. From the "Cradle of Liberty" has gone forth a multitudinous and prosperous family, whose every son and daughter takes just pride in the family history. The early and the later struggles for liberty—civil and religious—are chapters in the story of one of the greatest national developments in the history of civilization, a story that will be retold with telling effect when three centuries shall have elapsed.

In one sense three hundred years is a long time, but in the history of nations it is comparatively a brief period. The highly development of this country in that time seems little less than miraculous, and it is fitting that on this anniversary the minds of all the people should turn back to the day of humble beginnings, sore trials and privations, all of which were met with a resolution and determination that made failure impossible.

Dear to the hearts of all Americans is the history that will be reviewed on this momentous anniversary occasion, and it is gratifying to know that the federal government is to take an active and appropriate part in the proceedings, interest in which will extend far beyond the borders of the United States.

General Edwards, in command of the Department of the Northeast, has ordered the police of Boston to arrest all men in uniform who are found begging. He believes that the men thus engaged are fakers, and without doubt he is right. It would be a poor specimen of a soldier who would resort to begging after what the government has done and is doing for the men who were in the service.

At a recent sitting of the superior court in Nantucket County, Mass., there was not a case to be tried, so strictly law-abiding had been the people of the island. The presiding justice was presented a pair of white gloves in honor of the cleanliness of the docket and thus ended the summer session of the court for 1919.

Automobilists who are giving free rides to convalescents from the hospital ship at the navy yard are deserving of all commendation. Those men can never be fully repaid for what they did for their country, and any evidence of appreciation of their work will not be unappreciated.

Success to the gritty school boys and girls who have gone to work or are looking for places to put in their time to good advantage during the vacation period! It is boys and girls who are not afraid of work that "get there" in the battle of life.

Under the auspices of the Machinists' Union a mass meeting has been held at Beverly, Mass., to protest against the high cost of living. It is oppressive to men drawing only from $5 to $8 a day.

There are many boys and parents in the country who today wish the celebration had been more safe and sane.

What with ship launchings and aeroplane landings, the people of Portsmouth do not lack interesting events to take their attention.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Wide-Spread Nuisance

(From the Boston Post)

Among the undertakings for public betterment which received hearty endorsement by the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Atlantic City was that of the suppression of the billboard nuisance. The movement for the outlawry of this offense against good taste, this interference with the privileges of the multitude in the enjoyment of the open air, was given the pledged support of the association.

Its action was not based upon consideration of sentiment but upon a practical view of the matter. The values of real estate are affected seriously by these offensive structures; they intrude upon the beauty, not only of parkways and boulevards, but upon that of private residences.

To some extent, this detriment has been brought under regulation and restraint within municipal limits. In Washington billboards have been abolished altogether. But they still deface the view along rural highways and railways passing along their own country districts.

New Coast Forts

(From the Boston Post)

That the government is determined that our coast fortifications shall not suffer any deterioration on account of the coming of peace, but shall, rather, be made stronger, is evident from the order to General Edwards to make an official investigation of plans for a new system of defenses.

These plans are elaborate. According to an announcement they involve the heavy fortification of the Cape Cod Canal with great guns having an accurate range of 30,000 yards; the conversion of Block Island into a second Heligoland; the maintenance of a large garrison at Camp Devens to man the heavy railway artillery, and thorough modernization of the defenses at Cape Ann, Portsmouth and Portland.

This is a wise move. And now is the time to include in the plans for protecting our coast the fortification of the Isles of Shoals. There can be no adequate defense of the great bay and harbor of Portsmouth without the planting of big guns on those rocky sentinels that command the approaches to three cities besides the government plant mentioned.

The Post has long insisted that the Shoals be made an impenetrable fortress as they easily could be. If they are not, and trouble comes with any naval power its correctness might be disastrously proved.

Make Block Island an American Heligoland, if you please, Mr. Secretary, but do not neglect to make the Isles of Shoals a Yankee Gibraltar.

America's Part Toward China

(From the New York Herald)

No good can come from blinking the fact that the Chinese people hold the United States responsible for the plight in which they find themselves. China was doing very well as a neutral; was sharing in the prosperity that had come to all neutral countries and was reasonably content, as is her habit. Her people felt no concern over the "safety of democracy" or over those other things convenient for endorsement in wartime shibboleths. Then came the United States and the Entente Powers to urge her to enter the war on their side. In the campaign at Peking to bring China in the United States took a leading part. When China consented the American Government took itself the greater part of the credit for obtaining her consent.

China was assured that as an ally she would be given fullest consideration and that her wishes would be followed when the hour of peace-making came in all those matters that directly affected her interests. What happened at Paris seems clear enough. Consideration for the League of Nations badly overshadowed all other considerations in the mind of the President of the United States, the dominating figure among the peace-makers. At all cost Japan must be induced to enter the League. Japan consented—and the eggs were piled upon China.

Unprecedented Political Status

(From the Washington Post)

"The present is the most remarkable situation in the political history of the United States," observed S. H. Holmes, of Philadelphia, a student-politician. "I have taken a deep interest in politics all my life, and have been through numerous campaigns, but in forty years or more or less close observation I have never known a time when politicians and statesmen knew so little about the future in politics. All politicians appear to be afraid to express an opinion or a preference. All have their ears to the ground waiting for a sound that will give them an inkling of whether they should go. There are no defined issues, there are no candidates—none who will admit themselves to be candidates, at any rate. The politicians who will talk at all say that just now Gen. Wood is the most favored for the Republican presidential candidate. Next they say Senator Harding is favored. All Republicans insist—and some Democrats agree—that the Republicans are most likely to win the next election. Most base their opinion on the general dissatisfaction with the Democratic Administration, and all invariably point as an indication to the last election which gave to the Republicans control of the House and Senate.

"Gen. Wood is undoubtedly an able man, but he has never been a Republican leader. I do not know, and I presume, many others do not know whether he was voted the Republican ticket consistently, being in the Army. Senator Harding, being in my judgment, to a far more formidable possibility had he been more decided in his view on all great public questions. He is an attractive figure in the Senate, a forceful speaker and he comes from a good State."

Before the Court.

(Concerning People and Patriot)

In a recent editorial we stated that the echoes from the Governor's removal of Adjutant General Howard seemed to show that the sentiment, not only of the soldiers themselves, but of the press and the people of the state, was overwhelmingly against the Governor; that the soldiers seemed unwilling to receive recognition at the expense of any faithful military officer, especially if that recognition was under the auspices of being actuated by the political interests of any man or set of men; and that the people seemed unwilling that a faithful public servant who had administered his office through two wars in such a manner as to deserve and receive the commendation of his superiors at home and in Washington and an increase of salary from the last Legislature and a reappointment by the present Governor should be removed under such circumstances. This overwhelming sentiment among the soldiers and citizens alike seems not to have changed since we last wrote except to increase in intensity.

The new features which have come into the case since our last editorial are: First, the sending to the Supreme Court of the question of the authority, under the Constitution, of a political Commander-in-Chief to arbitrarily remove a faithful military officer; and second the coming of the new appointee to the State House and remaining there except when attending public functions with the Governor, claiming to be Adjutant General, notwithstanding the legal question raised and now pending before the Court.

By quietly proceeding with the discharge of the duties of the office, as of course only he and his loyal assistants, at present at least, have the experience to do, and by staying away from official functions to save the Governor embarrassment and the state from the appearance of any collision, and by urging upon the Governor and his appointee from the start an immediate reference to the Court of the question at issue for prompt and orderly determination, and offering to share the expense, it would seem that the Adjutant General has borne himself with becoming dignity. It is unfortunate that the early and repeated efforts of Adjutant General Howard in this direction were not met in the same spirit by the Governor and his appointee and the Governor's Council are to be commended for having taken a hand in the matter and paving the way to a prompt and early settlement in the Court.

The disposition of the Governor to hold Adjutant General Howard up to public reproach for not resigning does not commend itself. If Adjutant General Howard believes that the Constitution has, in the interest of the militia and the State, safeguarded the military department against such removals, then it would seem to be not only his right but his duty to invoke the Constitution. He has done nothing more and has done this with a dignity worthy of emulation.

Now that the court and the Governor's Council have taken a hand in the matter, it is to be hoped that it will run a more orderly course and being an early result in accord with the Constitution, justice and public opinion.

The above from the paper of which the Governor's Private Secretary is the Chief Editor. The paper that devotes much of its space to our Chief's publicity matter.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Thoughts on Independence Day.

Editor:—We have passed through a grand and glorious fourth, with but few accidents and with everybody happy. The idea of a safe and sane fourth without the dangerous fireworks and firearms was inaugurated a few years ago, and though there was a disposition to make a greater celebration this year on account of the cessation of war, the element of danger was absent. The reasons for observing this day with great noise and blarney and the events commemorated should be kept fresh in the minds of the coming generation. The historic landmarks and associations of this vicinity are especially interesting. The shot that was fired for freedom from the Fort Constitution was echoed around the world and was the beginning of a new era in which liberty and the rights of the masses should have first consideration. The struggle for independence and democratic government is still going on throughout the earth but peace and prosperity are gradually drawing nearer. The young of this nation should carefully consider events of the past and study the problems of the present day that they may be able to cope with conditions when they shall be called upon to assume their share of self government.

others who sought to live in their midst. That fact as told in history, I am glad to say, is a fallacy. The 1919-20 fathers were not imbued with that idea at all. They were obsessed so to speak, with the idea that their religion was the only religion and those who would not partake of the blessings which they had to offer, were ungrateful and did not comprehend or appreciate the good things in store for them.

Then again, in the state from which I come—Connecticut—his story records that along in 1683, a Jew was permitted to sojourn for only forty-eight hours in the City of Hartford. He was not then privileged to reside, let alone enjoy political rights, even in that great state which gave to the world the first written constitution. So the Jew of those days was between the upper and nether millstone, until Roger Williams in another New England state, opened the gate and welcomed him. The early New Englanders could never understand why the Jew could not be won over to their religion and so perchance felt him unworthy as a neighbor.

How did the Jew take that? Did he resent it? Did he do anything which might cause them to feel that he would make way upon them for their attitude? No, he dealt kindly towards them because in that very New England, a few miles from where I live, the first Jew to hold office in this country—Moses Marks—In 1728 a member of the Colonial Legislature, disturbed a good part of his worldly means among Christian charities. No Jews were there to speak of, at the time of his death.

So you see the Jew gave to his Christian neighbors an example of charity and justice. And within the past few weeks in New Hampshire, they have given us to understand that they have seen the good that we have tried to do by removing the last obstacle of discrimination.

In a number of states as you know, there was some difficulty in the summer resorts, in hotels, and other public places on account of the Jewish people coming there during the hot months, from the cities. Now in old New England, no longer do we find this discrimination, for in every state a law appears on the statute books, which has removed the last vestige of discrimination.

Our gathering here is a noteworthy one in the annals of the B'nai B'rith. Portsmouth while the peace negotiations were going on between Russia and Japan was the scene of the conference between a Committee of our Order and Count Witte regarding the status of our co-religionists in Russia and today happily we are gathered after the peace negotiations between the Allies and Germany at Versailles where the status of the Jewry of the World was a subject of deep consideration.

We feel, assembled here today on this noteworthy occasion, that we are pleading ourselves anew to the great work which we have before us in this country. The B'nai B'rith from the earliest days has been the pioneer of Americanism. You will find that in the last century the great Jews of our country, in civic, military, political and social spheres and in the world of science, in the arts and professions, in manufacturing and in the trades, were members of the B'nai B'rith and Americanism and its highest ideals were woven into the very fabric of our teachings everywhere.

In every lodge room we have a flag—the flag which to us means a new country, new privileges and a better opportunity to worship God than those of us who were born abroad had in the land from which we came. There are greater opportunities here for education, greater opportunities for advancement, socially, professionally and otherwise.

Columbus, inspired by the noble and chivalrous ideals of the Jews aboard his vessel planted the corner stone of patriotism on the shores of this country. He was followed by those hardy sons of the Continent of Europe who spend the knowledge of their religion among the Redmen in the depths of his primeval forest, on the plains and in the mountains, from Florida and the Chesapeake Bay to the Golden Gate.

The pioneers who blazed trails for future generations the Pilgrim Fathers with their stern ideals of religion and their exile from England for their principles; Patrick Henry with his "Give me liberty or give me death"; the Boston Tea Party and the protest against taxation without representation, as being tyranny; Paul Revere, Israel Putnam, Haym Solomon—whose services in the realm of finance was said to have been as valuable as that of Washington on the field of battle, all inspired our country in its fight against the German menace, bringing freedom to enslaved Belgium, war-stricken France and Italia's followers with "their backs against the wall" and brought victory to the sons who fought for the preservation of our government.

America has truly met its payment to France for its assistance during the days of the Revolution, and of great value also is the coming together of England and the United States in a bond of brotherhood in which other Allied Nations are also taking part and among the heroes at Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel, Solomons, and the Argonne Forest may be found the names of the Jewish boys from the Eastside of New York who constituted the "Button hole makers brigade" whose first rent ideals of Americanism were obtained through the beautiful ritual of the B'nai B'rith in their lodge rooms where patriotism and loyalty to our beloved country were firmly implanted as a part of their every day creed.

It is the mission of the B'nai B'rith to bring cheer to the newcomer, to the new settler, and show him the opportunity to make a better American out of himself for the unity of Israel, for social and civic betterment. This work has received the commendation of the greatest men of our land. Every President in the history of the B'nai B'rith has had occasion to receive wonderful praise from the Government of the United States for the good work the Order is doing and for its splendid achievements since it has been organized.

Only within the last few weeks have I received a message from Booth Tarkington, the noted author. I will read it to you. It shows how the work of our great Organization is appreciated. "I am much gratified and I should add that I think that the work you are doing is of the highest usefulness, in fact, I believe that just that sort of work is by all means the most important that can be done in America today. This country should be aroused to comprehend the need of it—the whole country."

Why Living Is Expensive

(From "Gird's Talk of the Day" in the Philadelphia Press)

Two gentlemen farmers were having lunch at a leading club.

As he lit his twenty-five cent cigar Farmer Number One remarked:

"I went to an auction the other day and bought a cow. Paid $775 for her."

Said Farmer Number Two: "Yes, things come high these days. My farm hand lives in a village about a quarter of a mile from my house and he drives to work every morning in his automobile."

Not a cheerful outlook for a cheaper market basket.

ROMANCE OF KEYES ON WANE

Boston, July 7.—John Baker (Romeo) Keyes and Miss Florence (Harrdin) will never marry each other, according to the claim of the girl's father to a Post reporter last night.

"Because why?" asked the reporter. "Because they're not," insisted the father.

Mr. Harrdin's announcement was made almost within hearing distance of his daughter, who chose to remain in her room when the reporter called at her Dorchester home. "This despite the fact that the former 18-year-old Harvard Club elevator operator has repeatedly manifested to the same reporter in emphasizing her determination and confidence in marrying her 63-year-old father. For the first time Miss Harrdin sent word through her father that she had "nothing to say any more."

"Why this sudden change of attitude on the part of your daughter, is she already married to Keyes?" asked the reporter.

"Not No! No!" exclaimed the parent.

"When will they be married?"

"Never."

"How is that?"

"Because."

And then more "because" were the extent of the explanation for the never-marrying of the couple.

"Do you mean that Florence's engagement to Mr. Keyes has been broken?" the reporter asked.

"Don't ask me," was the retort.

"But you say they will never marry." "Yes, and I say it again, they will not marry because they won't."

Keyes, who continues to absent himself for brief and long periods from his room at the Boston Tavern, could not be reached last night.

Why You Should Buy Coal Now

The price of coal is 75 per cent determined by wages. The wage agreement at the mines continues until April 1, 1920. The Fuel Administration reports that 35 per cent of the mines cannot make any money at the present mine prices. In view of this, how can coal be cheaper this year?

WE ADVISE YOU TO PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW FOR COAL FOR NEXT WINTER.

WAR VETERAN A SUICIDE IN HAVEN PARK

E. Gladstone Underwood a Canadian War Veteran Shot Himself Thru the Heart ---Motive and Selection of Park For Deed Not Known

Ewart Gladstone Underwood, a discharged Canadian veteran of the world's war, committed suicide shortly before ten o'clock on Saturday evening in Haven Park, by shooting himself through the heart with a .32 calibre revolver.

Underwood apparently came into the park a few minutes before he committed the deed, as he was found in the pathway over on the Livermore street side of the park. The flash of the gun and the report was seen by L. W. Slachar who with his wife was sitting in the park and he at once gave the alarm and word was phoned to the police station.

Officers Hewitt and Doherty went down in the patrol wagon and found the body of Underwood lying face down in the path. He was dead and as soon as Medical Referee G. E. Pender arrived the revolver was found under his body, where he had fallen on it. He had shot himself through the heart and had died instantly.

On the body was found a note asking that his mother Mrs. Mary Noble of 255 Hilldale Avenue, Haverhill, be notified. His discharge papers and about $150 in money was found in his clothing. His discharged papers showed that he had enlisted in the Canadian Army in 1916 and was discharged May 1919, and he had seen long overseas service. No motive was for the act, and it was evidently premeditated, as shown by the note to his mother.

How long Underwood had been in town or what he came here for the police were unable to find out, apparently he had no friends here and as far as known had not been here very long.

The body was turned over to Undertaker J. Verne Wood and Sunday forenoon his brother-in-law came here from Haverhill and identified the body and made arrangements for his funeral. He knew of no motive for the act, other than he may have been affected by the heat. Previous to his going into the Canadian Army he had been under treatment for a nervous breakdown and the heat may have brought on an attack of the same trouble.

We are pleased to announce that we have obtained for this city the exclusive sale of the Nationally known and Nationally favored

Wirthmor and Welworth Waists

—After a very careful investigation we have arranged to distribute these two nationally-known and nationally favored lines of Waists in this city. Before deciding on this step we learned the Wirthmor and Welworth Waists were being handled by many of the best stores in America; that they had attained through their unvarying excellence a nation-wide popularity; that because of the unique Wirthmor Plan under which they are made and sold that they always represented the highest possible standard of value in popular price Blouses, and further because of this very unusual method of making and selling Waists we would be able to show the new and wanted styles first, in many instances long in advance of their appearance in the market generally.

These are America's only known priced Waists, and they are sold at the same low prices the nation over.

HEAT BROUGHT ON SUICIDE TENDENCY

Capt. Valentine E. Crowell of Kittery Point is detained at the Kittery lockup temporarily, until he may be examined as to his sanity. He is brought to the place Saturday by Capt. Arthur Hutchins of Kittery Pt., who found that the man was sick and violent at York. He was apparently bent on suicide.

It was supposed that he may have been affected by the severe heat, and as he lived alone, that he had lacked proper food and care. The man has been a recluse, and has for many years been a lobster fisherman out of Kittery Point. He has been a man of good character, and has had the respect of all who knew him. He is said to have been disappointed in a love affair when young, and since then has preferred to live alone. He appears well educated.

During the day Saturday he became suddenly violent while he had been taken from a cell and placed near a window to get as much cool air as possible, and dashed head-first thru the window, badly hurting himself. His face was bruised and his left wrist injured so that it is swollen and painful.

It has been hard work to get the man to take any nourishment. He has the delusion that about all his food has been poisoned. Dr. E. E. Shipley has charge of the case and while the man is having the very best of care of watchers and friends, his condition is bad, and it is feared that he will not recover.

Very little is known about the unfortunate man's relatives.

BRACKETT NOW OUT OF DANGER

Charles Brackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Brackett of Greenland, was overcome by the heat while on his milk delivery auto Saturday forenoon, and he had a narrow escape. He was taken to the Portsmouth Hospital and Dr. Eastman and Todd attended him and when he was brought to the hospital, he was in very bad shape and it was only after long treatment that he responded. Later in the day he showed considerable improvement and was pronounced out of danger, but for some time it was feared that he would not live.

Charles is the popular third baseman of the P.A. C. and his friends are glad to hear of his rapid recovery.

YEOMAN AND HIS WIFE IN KITTERY COURT

Charles C. Hiles, a yeoman, and his wife, Emily M. Hiles, his better known in this city as May Beach, were arrested before six o'clock Saturday evening by Officer Anderson, for the Kittery officers, Constables George R. Smart and Harry M. Tobey, who came here earlier in the day with warrants after the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiles were charged with an assault on Ernest B. Grace at Kittery Point, on the night of the Fourth. They were arraigned in the Kittery municipal court at 7 o'clock.

Saturday evening, before Judge Justin H. Shaw.

Mrs. Hiles is the daughter of Mrs. Grace, and was married to the yeoman in Dover, by City Clerk Quincy last May, she told the court. The troubles in their Grace family at Kittery Point have been numerous in recent years. The couple went to live there, and the family trouble seems to have been continued. The disturbance attracted the attention of neighbors.

Grace appeared in court with his head plastered up, and alleged that he had been assaulted twice. He said that Mr. Hiles had first attacked him, and that the cut on his forehead, which required the services of Dr. Shippleigh, had been caused by a blow with a vase and had been made by Mrs. Hiles. Mrs. Grace appeared as a witness for her daughter, in defense.

The couple were found guilty on the complaints against them. Mrs. Hiles was fined $10 and costs, and her husband's case was placed on file. She was also required to recognize in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for a year. Upon her promise to remain away from Kittery Point for that time, the fine was remitted.

IN MEMORIAM

ELEANOR BROWN BACHMANN

"If Earth another grave must bear
Yet Heaven hath won a sweeter strain."

One is reminded of these beautiful lines of Lowell, which seem so appropriate in reference to the passing of Eleanor Brown Bachmann, only daughter of Ellen May Varrall and the late Paymaster Zachary Taylor Brown, U. S. N., who passed her earthly mission Saturday the twenty-eighth. She passed away at the home of her grand parents where she had been for the past two weeks, arriving there from New York and her summer home at Old Orchard Beach, hoping that a visit to her childhood home would be of benefit, after the best medical skill had been sought and the most faithful nursing had been given her during her brief illness, but this failed to restore her to health.

One in whom was the embodiment of rare personal beauty, coupled with the inward adorning of gentleness, affection, of urbanity, of devotion, which with other graces of mind and heart, developed an ideal being.

She has passed to the beyond; today memory wreathes loving, fondleless chapters for the departed and death has not severed even the finest strand in the eternal cable of love, for "the very strain has twined itself closer still and added strength."

Funeral services were held at the home of her grandparents last Tuesday. The Rev. Percy Warren Caswell officiating, the grandfather and great grandfather having been members of the Christian Baptist church, the latter being a deacon for many years. The service was most impressive, a beautiful poem, "To My Darling Mother" an inspiration of her son, being read with much feeling by the pastor.

The following relatives acted as pall bearers: Mr. Thornton Brown and Mr. T. P. Varrall of Boston, Mr. R. T. Canover, Mr. Paul Canover.
"A star that trembled o'er the deep,
Then turn'd from earth its tender beam."

OBSEQUIES

Vedma T. Caswell.
The funeral of Vedma T. Caswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah L. Caswell was held from the home of her parents Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. James Plagg conducting the services. Mr. Lawrence Blibrick sang "There is a Friend for Little Children," and "Heaven is My Home." The bearers were Irving Rand, Austin Trefethen, Herman Trefethen and Ernest Tricker.
The interment was in the family lot in Central cemetery under direction of J. Verne Wood.

GETTING HORSE TO THE SHOALS SOME JOB

Getting a horse to the Isles of Shoals was an expensive job on Saturday. A horse necessary at the island for the work that has to be done in connection with the hotel and Saturday forenoon a horse was taken out on the tug Mitchell Davis. Arriving at the island the only way to get the animal ashore was for him to swim from the tug, but the minute the horse struck the water he died. It is supposed the sudden shock of the cold water after the intense heat brought about the heart failure.

Another horse was secured in this city and an attempt made to get him on the tow boat Saturday night, but try as they would he could not be induced to go aboard the tug, neither did he go ashore the tug, neither by blindfolding or any way it was finally given up and Sunday the animal was taken aboard the tug and arrived safely at the Shoals.

CAPTURED A HIPPOPOTAMUS BY HYDROPLANE

How two cowboys from John Robinson's circus and a titled Englishman pursued an escaping hippopotamus in a hydroplane, lassoed the animal and towed it to shore, and eventually got it back in its cage is a remarkable story related by Herbert S. Maddy who reached Portsmouth last night from Prince Edward Island.

"Our circus exhibited on Prince Edward Island July 4th and all our animals and paraphernalia were taken from the mainland at Cape Forman, N. B., to Borden, on the island on huge car ferries," said Maddy. "Just as several cars containing cages were being shunted from one of the ferries, a sudden jerk by the shifting engine threw one of the cars off the track. This car carried the cage in which 'Conco' a four-year-old hippopotamus was confined."

"The cage door was broken and 'Conco' escaped. She made for the water and started swimming toward the mainland, a distance of nine miles. Sir William Forbes, island millionaire, raised a black foxes and owner of a hydroplane was the guest of Mr. Robinson, having come from his home at Tisbury in the plane. He witnessed the escape of the hippopotamus and at once got his plane in action. Accompanied by 'Nebraska Bill' MacDonald and Joe Wells, two of the circus cowboys, Sir William started after the beast."

Five miles out they sighted her and Sir William skillfully maneuvered the plane while the cowboys prepared to throw their lassos. Finally the beast was made and both ropes settled over the head of the hippo. The beast continued swimming toward land towing the hydroplane and its occupants after her. When she reached the shore the hippopotamus, completely exhausted from her long swim, promptly laid down and the cowboys tied her securely to piers. Her cage was brought over on the ferry boat and Miss Conco was induced to get into it. "Sir William Forbes believes he holds the record of being the first man in the world to capture wild animals from a hydroplane. He is now seriously considering the idea of hunting whales with his plane and the two husky cowboys who helped corral the hippopotamus."

NEW CASTLE BY THE SEA

The season opened auspiciously at this beautiful spot on the New England coast, Thursday, June 26. The large flag was unfurled from the staff at the edge of the pine grove fronting the hotel, the dignified and impressive ceremonies being conducted by a group of regulars from Fort Constitution in command of Lieut. Maynard. The expansive green lawns, the neatly trimmed gardens and the freshly painted buildings all seemed to wear an air of welcome.

Thursday forenoon many gathered at the Wentworth Gun Club ranges to see an exhibition by Annie Oakley, who is to be in charge of shooting contests here this season. Some of the young ladies participated in the sport. Many prizes will be offered during the summer for weekly competitions.

The cabin cruiser, Goldenrod II, bore a merry group of people the evening of July 4th, from the hotel to the Atlantic Corporation's wharves at Portsmouth to see a launching. It was a unique experience for many in the party and the sail was delightful. Miss Lilian Gillett of Concord, formerly dancing instructor here, is a guest of Miss Lucy Priest. Miss Gillette will be at the Crawford House this summer.

Mr. Channing Cox of Boston and Robert F. Wright of Brookline have been at the hotel during the week. The growing Boston colony here includes Mr. W. G. Hutchinson and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. Frothingham, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Snow and Miss G. Hunsinger.

A delightful automobile party stopping here en route to Poland Springs, consists of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Farnum, Mary Louise Farnum, Herbert H. Farnum, Whipple W. Farnum, Alva R. Farnum.

New York people at the Wentworth for July will include Miss Eleanor Knicker, Mr. and Mrs. L. Lehman, Miss Beatrice Lehman, M. S. Bondy and sister, Mrs. D. H. Murray and sister, Mr. J. H. Eaton, of Manhattan; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bacon and daughter, Mrs. George H. Quimby of Brooklyn.

Sixty-nine automobiles parked in front of the large hotel Monday evening, not including those in the garage, gave this place the appearance of August.

Everything points to a large and successful season at this popular spot.

JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS COMING

The oldest of all American shows, John Robinson Circus, is scheduled to appear in Portsmouth Thursday, July 10th.

The two performances will be preceded by the street parade which will traverse the principal thoroughfares at ten o'clock. The entire outfit is said to have been increased twenty-five percent over previous years, which increase also applies to the street parade, and as evening events east their shadows before so the splendour of this public pageant may be taken as a forecast of what is to be viewed later under the big tents.

The owners of this great circus have ever held firmly to the successful policies of their famous forefathers and the traditional glories of their brilliant professional street display, with this year's splendid additions can be paralleled only by itself, and is reputed to be a regular fairground with the world's modern wonders passing in review.

HOW THEY SERVE MINT JELLY

Roast lamb has always called for mint sauce. That meant buying fresh mint and making a sauce. And often it was forgotten.

A culinary expert says that the modern way is to use Mint Jelly-Jell. The Jelly-Jell comes in powder form and is green. A sealed vial in the package contains the mint flavor—an extract from fresh mint leaves.

Add boiling water to the Jelly-Jell. When add the mint flavor from the vial. Let the jelly cool in a single mold or in individual molds. The result is a green jelly rich in fresh-mint flavor, meats.

To serve with roast lamb of cold Mint Jelly-Jell can be kept on hand. And a package makes a pint of mint jelly at a cost of 12 1-2 cents. It is said that housewives who once try it will abandon oldstyle mint sauce.

Her assistant will be Miss Beatrice Cullen of this city, another young woman well fitted for her part of the work.

ROBINSON'S CIRCUS, NOT ROBBINS

It's John Robinson's big three ring circus and not the P. A. Robbins' show that is coming to Portsmouth Thursday, July 17th. The Herald had the "drop" a big wrong in Saturday's issue. John Robinson's circus is one of the largest in the country and is also the oldest, having been organized in 1824.

It is transported on three trains of forty-five cars, has 1127 employees, 500 horses, three hundred arena stars, fifteen elephants and a wonderful menagerie in which "Congo," a baby hippopotamus is the feature.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The members of Constitution Circle, Companions of the Forest, held its annual memorial service at Moose hall Sunday afternoon. Refrigerators and Baby Carriages.

An odd combination, perhaps, but both are essentials. The food—valuable property just now—must be properly kept and the baby, always valuable, must get out of doors.

We still have just a few refrigerators which we are selling at a reduction. Oak cases with white enamel linings, clean and sanitary. The baby carriages are alluring in their smartness. The newest carriages are white, natural, frosted ivory and frosted blue. Go-carts too, for the older children. It is a difficult task to go shopping with a two-year-old youngster. With a go-cart one can get around more easily and quickly, not be nearly so tired and go home with a far less tired and fretful child.

TWO BAD AUTO ACCIDENTS

John McKinnon of this city, an employee of the New England Telephone Company, was badly injured late Sunday afternoon when his automobile was in collision with another car driven by Max Rothbard of Lynn, Mass.

Mr. McKinnon was returning to the beach from the Boston & Maine station at Hampton when he met the other car coming from the beach at Youngs Corner. His car was sideswiped with such force that he was hurled through the windshield and badly cut about the face and hands. Internal injuries are feared. His car was badly wrecked.

A motorcycle and side car containing Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Pierce of East Providence, R. I., was in collision with an automobile owned and driven by Albert J. Hatch of Peabody, a deputy income tax assessor with headquarters in Salem, Sunday at the North Shore near the residence of Henry Boynton. The force of the impact caused the motorcycle and side car to overturn. Both of the occupants were considerably cut and bruised. After receiving medical aid they returned home by train. The forward part of the automobile was considerably damaged.

Edward C. Hicks arrived from overseas June 24 and returned to Portsmouth last Friday and is visiting relatives at 40 Bow street. He entered the service on Aug. 1, 1918, and was sent to Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass. He mailed for France Sept. 24 and had one month's active service on the Meuse-Argonne front.

Before enlisting he was employed at the Portsmouth Motor Mart.

WEDDED IN NEW YORK

Miss Eleanor M. Becker Bride of Roy A. Macdonald.

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Mae Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Becker of Brooklyn, N. Y., formerly of this city, and Roy A. Macdonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Macdonald of Broad street, occurred in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Monday, June 30.

Both are well known and popular local young people. The bride held a position in the C. B. French Company's store for some time and later on a Yeoman (P) on the navy yard, concluding her duties there two weeks ago. The groom has a position with the Atlantic Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald are on their wedding trip through the White Mountains and are now stopping at Rose Brook Inn, Twin Mountains. At the conclusion of their trip they will reside at 571 Broad street.

FELL INTO THE ELEVATOR WELL.

Workman at Creamery Meets With Accident on Sunday.

Anthony Barlinsky, one of the employees of the Portsmouth Creamery plant on Bow street, fell into the elevator well there on Sunday afternoon and sustained several cuts and bruises which were caused mostly by some loaded milk cans which followed him in the fall. He escaped with no broken bones and was removed to his home on Haystack where Dr. John H. Neal attended him.

WHO SAYS A KITTELY FIREMAN IS NOT BUSY?

If there was any salary to the job of fireman in Kittely the fire department would be receiving overtime pay for services on July 4. On that day the fire alarm kept them busy in answering four alarms. When some of the several alarms were sent in they were doing double duty in arranging for the holiday fireworks of which the fire fighters had charge, causing a delay in sending up the rockets, etc. Who says a Kittely fireman is not busy?

GOOD WORK OF NEW ENGLAND WOMEN

The part played in winning the war by the women of the New England states of Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island, working through the chapters, branches and auxiliaries of the New England Division of the American Red Cross, is shown with startling emphasis in a report made public by the New England division headquarters in this city. These women produced 29,621,769 articles during the 23 months from July 1, 1917, to May 31 of this year.

REAL STOWAWAY TOOK PASSAGE ON DIRIGIBLE R 34

Mineola, N. Y., July 6.—If the British dirigible carried a "brig," this "brig" probably would have been occupied on the ship's voyage across the Atlantic, for six hours after he had left East Portney, Major Scott, commander of the craft discovered he had aboard a real stowaway.

"His name is W. W. Ballantine and he lives in Cromwell, England," said Major Scott in making known that alphas were just as attractive to stowaways as regular ocean liners.

"At one time he was a member of our crew, but when we completed arrangements for this trip it was decided not to take him on board for various reasons which I do not wish to disclose at this time.

"When he was discovered, of course we could not drop him off, so we put him to work and he did his share of the work on the voyage. He will not make the return trip but will be left here. In the near future he will be formally court-martialed, but I do not think he will be subjected to any severe punishment."

Ballantine says he doesn't care what becomes of him now that he has made the voyage.

EXCITING SWIMMING MATCH SUNDAY

Five young men from Hotel Champeauville participated in an exciting swimming match at 5 o'clock last evening. The course was from Fort Constitution to the hotel boat and two finished. Charles Spencer was first and Irving Hatch second, while George Cole and Walter Stoddard were taken with cramps and Frank Gallagher gave up and were taken in boats. The time for the winner was 27 minutes and the feat was one entitling the participants to much credit.

SUNDAY A BAD DAY FOR AUTOS

Two big cars were wrecked at Studebaker hill on the ocean boulevard on Sunday evening. The front wheels were smashed on one. All along the road were cars with minor damage. An autoist coming from the north says he passed no less than fifteen wrecked cars.

NAVY YARD NOTES

On the Sick List. Marine Gunner Walter O. Jackson is confined to his home in Kittery by illness.

Release in 30 Days.

Orders for the release within 30 days of the signing of the naval appropriation bill of all members of the naval reserve force, men and women, who are performing duty ordinarily done by civilians, were received at headquarters of the First naval district on Saturday. Reservists who are qualified and wish to accept appointments to the same duties under civil service will be given opportunity to do so. Others may obtain discharge or be sent to a receiving ship for general detail.

Rivals Meet Tonight.

The navy yard team and the U. S. S. Southern, the leaders in the Sunset League, meet tonight for another battle on the diamond. They are separated by one game and are sure to be greeted by a big crowd at this game.

On Inactive List.

Don D. Harrison, an ensign in the reserve pay corps, was placed on the inactive list today and left for his home in St. Louis.

Discharging Nine.

Nine men in the reserve corps were sent to several stations from the U. S. S. Southern today for release from active duty.

Riggers' Helpers.

Two riggers' helpers were required by the Industrial Department today.

Coming Wednesday.

The U. S. S. Huntington is expected to arrive at the local yard on Wednesday.

Request Approved.

Miss Ethel Sanford, yeoman (P), attached to the yard supply office, has requested to be placed on the inactive list, which has been approved by the department.
